DETAILED ACTION

Specification

1. The attempt to incorporate subject matter into this application by reference to attorney's reference numbers is improper because no US application numbers have been provided. It appears that at the time of the filing of the instant application, the information on the concurrently filed applications listed in the "Cross Reference to Related Applications" was unavailable. For proper consideration, the serial numbers of the application are to be provided in response to this Office action.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

3. Claims 6-8 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Phillips et al (US 5,732,107).

Consider claims 6 and 7. Referring to Figs. 1 and 3, Phillips et al discloses a method of interpolating "a one-bit input signal" (S0 for one). A sample range from four samples (NS1, NS2, NS3, NS4) associated with one bit input signal (S0), thus reading on "at least three input samples" and "four input samples," are generated. This sample range is further interpolated by an Spline interpolator, thus developing a plurality of samples, see col.8, lines 15-24.

Art Unit: 2634

Regarding claim 8, the sample range consisting of the four interpolated samples is considered a subset of a range associated with the input sample in that the range associated with the input sample is from S0 to S1 and the four samples NS1, NS2, NS3, NS4 fall within the range, i.e. becoming a subset.

Allowable Subject Matter

4. Claims 1-5, 11-50 are allowed.
5. Claims 9 and 10 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.
6. The following is a statement of reasons for the indication of allowable subject matter: No prior art has been found to teach or suggest a cascaded interpolator where a multiple order interpolation filter generates a sample range and a linear interpolation filter develops a plurality of samples within the range.
